Defensive

Mangosteen is certainly an intimidating baby. With big brows and a stone face, its hard to see what exactly might be happening behind those big eyes of his. Often times he looks mad or grumpy, when in all honesty he is just in deep thought over why star fruits are shaped like stars, and if they were named after stars or the other way around. He's a bit on the rougher side, not minding mud or getting dirty, and has no concept of being polite verbally, often picking up random impolite swears or forgetting to say thank you. Despite his gruff and tough attitude however, one will find someone extremely kind behind those thick brows, as he often acts kindly to animals and friends, either by protecting or sharing his food.
