No	https://robbinslibrary.org/resources/com/2020/03/16-using-the-library-from-a-distance-during-covid-19/	Even libraries that are open with staff shouldn't be doing anything but promoting remote access. Anything more, like outside delivery, is irresponsible. I urge MBLCL to discourage ANY library service that brings people into contact in this day and age, with rich online resources AND a little-understood public health emergency, how are we still talking about how to get physical materials into the hands of our patrons? Communities who have staff coming in are doing it wrong. They are putting staff and the community at risk.		781-316-3201	Andrea Nicolay	anicolay@minilib.net	No	MLN

Creating and developing library packets, which also included weeded chapter books, to Auburn Youth and Family Services 2. Created two websites: one for children and one geared toward adults for access to virtual resources and services 3. Working on partnering with external presenters for virtual programs, free of charge to the Library	Yes	https://auburnlibrary.ma.gov/			(508) 832-7790	jean collins	jcollins@town.auburn.ma.us	Two FT union staff: they were terminated (positions were NOT terminated; staff only) They were both only 5 months into their employment. There is insufficient work to keep them on the payroll and that is not expected to change for quite some time. Other FT staff are working in-house 1-2 days per week and working remotely the other 3. FT staff working a combination of hours and balance of in-house and remote. Staff are divided into two teams; teams never overlap, as added precaution against spreading the disease from one group to another. As of now, no one has been sick or exposed (that we know of). 3/19/2020 11:00	Yes	Auburn	Auburn Public Library	No	3/11/2020	TBD - possibly not until April 11, 2020	Yes	Phone and email support * Virtual programming (Online storytime, Facebook Live, etc.) * We are creating literacy packets that align with our virtual stories and the programs we normally offer in-house, as well as other packet topics. The packets contain 8-10 literacy coloring sheets, a related craft with all materials, a story printed from the Internet, and sometimes an additional element, such as a plastic dinosaur. Our Auburn Youth and Family Services has requested 100 packets, for each of the 10-12 we plan to develop. Since they are offering meal pickup, we will partner with them for the literacy packets for that particular population. I am also working out a partnership with the schools, which are also offering meals to children who normally receive meals from school. We will also be offering them via website registration to Auburn residents (only) for curbside pickup. Delivery will be made by library staff only if they do not have a way to pick them up. You will need the following information: full name, street address, telephone number, email address. We will then issue you a temporary library card number and PIN, which will allow you to access our amazing collection of online resources. This card will expire in three months. Transferring this temporary card to a permanent card will simply require you to come to the Library with ID and proof of address. We will add new cards as soon as possible, but it may take several days for your card to be activated. To get a library card email us at https://maldenpubliclibrary.org/contact-us or if you need more assistance you can call the Library Card Line at (781) 333-0640.
