[illegible]

[1] "We are the ones chosen by the holy button, sworn by the code of blue."

[2] 42s number group

[3] When the Sun rose, it brightened the Emerald, and the Emerald imparted its tint on the Sun. Long Live Peace. Press-ed be All.

[4] Greens Only

[5] "NoTap hosts challenges in which participants abstain from button taps and presses for a period of time."

[6] "This is a subreddit for people who are active in /r/thebutton and have made the wise choice to not press the button."

[7] "Welcome brothers and sisters. This is our sanctuary. Here we are free of the taint of the rainbow menace. "

[8] "Ours is the the Way that is open to all. Be you of Grey or Colored Dot, we welcome you, and ask that you spread word of our beliefs: Those who have pressed not The Button shall be rewarded with Gold in the After-Timer."

[9] "Assassins choose to make "not pressing" an active choice. We call it active inaction."

[10] "A community for those who have abstained from pressing the button."

[11] "We seek our numbers to be fifty individuals, who stand strong in the face of the Colored Blight and the evil temptations of The Button."

[12] "Don't press it"

[13] "Don't press the button."

[14] Welcome to the Ashen Assembly, a community dedicated to all of those who have not pressed the button or cannot press the button, but are perfectly content with this. However, members of the Ashen Assembly are also perfectly content with those who have made the choice to press. The Ashen Assembly is a neutral and pacifistic subreddit, and, as such, posts attacking other pressing states are frowned upon.

[15] A grey panther has no love of gold, glory, or even retribution of /r/thebutton slighers. A grey panther has no hope that anything will be done, only faith that he/she will do nothing to the button. In the grey jungle, panther is king, and he makes no truces, no allies. Our message is not to convert, but to proudly stand and say "I did not press the fucking button!"

[16] This subreddit is part of /r/thebutton community. Our click announces the dawn of a new age. The orange revolution defines The Button's highest point before the red apocalypse.

[17] Welcome to the Grove Republic, a place for who are Orange or the Orange at heart and home to democracy!

[18] Oranges only!

[19] "60s unite! A subreddit for those chosen by the button."

[20] The exclusive lounge for Purple-flaired-pressers.

[21] "We are the 59s, We have chosen. Press the button."

Greetings and salutations. We are pleased to welcome you to your new home, /r/59s. While beginning a new life is always stressful and unsettling it will be our pleasure to guide you through this new period of your life. With any luck you'll recognize this place not simply as a camp where you reside but as a center for education and new, more progressive, strains of thought.

For now, meet the other 59s pressers. Learn about how they came to be in this place and perhaps you'll recognize exactly where you made the misstep.

ignorantia legis neminem excusat

[22] Through all means, prove supremacy. Hail the Violet Hand.

[23] "/r/thebutton is the hardest button to button"

[24] After the recent take over of /r/59s, a new subreddit is required. Here you can settle down and start a new. Leave /r/59s. Come here and be happy.

[25] "We are the untouchables. Most of us are for the purples, but are stuck as filthy greys."

[26] What we stand for:

As humble purples, the day the other colours eventually try to destroy us is inevitable. They spit on us, call us filthy, and spread lies and propaganda throughout our ranks. We must be ever vigilant and on the defence. Join us in defence, brother.

This is the subreddit for the Military branch at /r/VioletHand.

[27] "I submit myself to the Order of the Red, Long shall be our days and nights ahead"

[28] "During the final second, we will press the button when time is most thin, and we will cut through the armor and into the very flesh of space time."

[29] "We are the watchful protectors. We are the patient that do not waste our presses on /r/thebutton. Only ideology is simple: Only press when it is below 10 seconds. Those who press in single digits are martyrs and saints among us. All others are heathens."

[30] My brothers who are donning white, let us come out of the shadows, let our voice be heard, for we are the immune, we are the ones who cannot be seduced, converted or corrupt by the button of knowledge. The suffering of the tempted do not worry us. The misery of the abstinent is unknown to us. We are above it all. Clean and pure. We are without choice. My brothers donning white, spread your wings with pride and reveal yourself. For we are The White Watchers.

[31] We are the paragons of the Golden Age of The Button. Midway between the chaos of the purple and the inevitable despair of the red, we are perfectly positioned to think of the dark times before The Button and ruminate on what awaits Beyond Zero, while championing the perfect balance that exists right now. We are foresight and we are reflection. We are Sunguardians.

[34] "Our goal is to make sure that the button timer never reaches zero."

[35] The Rules:

1) All colors are welcome here. While we accept that half the fun was the debate between the different factions, please try to refrain from truly hurtful comments.

2) Try to keep things related to The Button. We understand that things frequently get off topic in the comments section, but at least keep all submissions on topic.

3) Respect reddiquette and the site rules.

[36] "I wish to spread the teachings of the Holy 0 to you all. It is foretold that when the Great Timer reaches the Holy Number 0 all true believers will reach salvation and all those who don't will be forced into an eternity in one of Colored Hells. [60] The Holy Order of Primes accepts these truths to be self evident:
Those who press the button at a prime moment are Holy unto The Button. Set apart for The Button. The most Holy are those whom the button designates "2s" as they are both prime and even. The least Holy are those whom the button designates "59s" for they are guilty of the only sin. The sin of impatience.
The lower one's button number, the more Holy unto The Button one is for thou has demonstrated great prudence and self-control.
60s are guilty of the unpardonable sin, they are unholy and must be shunned.

[72] This subreddit is dedicated to the struggle of the purple pressers. We people of the purple stand united against our oppressors. We invite every color to join our struggle with respect to our cause.

[73] "In response to April 5th's IRC, a sub-group of knights known as the bardtards have banded together over music and fellowship from many different battalions and have created a new subreddit known as /r/bardtards. Purely for morale, these fine soldiers share two things in common, a duty to the knights, and a love for music."

[74] The Button will reach zero someday. Then, someone will press it and it will restart. However, a Pressiah may never arrive. And if he/she does arrive and presses, the timer will start once more and end once more. Even so, there was time before The Button in which it did not exist and there will be time after in which The Button will not exist, regardless of your perceptions. Perhaps there was a button before this one. Perhaps there will be another after. Perhaps there are others out there that we know nothing about. Either way, The Button must be taken for what it is: a reflection of one's self.

[75] We are The House of Repose. We wish to see the button fall. Some may call us Assassins, but we are more than that; we're more refined, more lethal, more elegant, and more ambitious. We deal in blood and nothing else. We only wish for the downfall of the Button in the best way possible: with our hands.

[93] he League of Black is an group of Pure Greys who have the belief that upon the Zero Event, all colour will be eliminated.

The Zero Event will bring upon an apocalyptic force, this force will eradicate all colour; It does not discriminate against colours individually, instead the force will destroy the whole spectrum of colours.

Those colours from Filthy Purple to the Redguard Reds will be removed, this will leave only the Pure Greys; These Pure Greys will be allowed to ascend, granted by the colour ending force will allow the Pure Greys to be cured of all links to colour.

These Greys will become Black, the pure essence of colourlessness, a state which resembles their struggles against the colour and their resolve to stay pure.

[122] the after button

[123] On the First Day, the Mighty Button created the Purples. There were only those that did not pay tribute to the button (the non-pressers) and those that did (the Purples). With time, both groups divided amongst themselves.

With time flowing, more colors began to be bestowed upon those that praised the button. These groups coalesced under two banners: The Bluetherhood, and the Emerald Council.

The Purples, long since divided by number, realized the need for a joint front if they were to survive the onslaught of new unified color groups. So to avoid destroying the nations they had built by number, the purples decided to build a Union in which to meet and negotiate when needed. This Purple Union was to be their front against a united enemy.

This is a place created for all members whom the button has sorted into the Purple, to join up and talk. Your purple group doesn't have a sub? Post it here! Need to address other purples regardless of number? Post here!

[124] "We are not an order or a group; we are lone wolves. Our goal is not fame. We wish to serve our Button Lord in the only way that we can: to press the Button in the times of the Final Second."

[156] In April of 2015, /u/thefightscene went into a grove of trees near the subreddit /r/thebutton, and prayed to learn which button faith he should join. In answer to his prayer, The Button appeared to him, just as heavenly beings had appeared to prophets like Moses and Paul in biblical times. /u/thefightscene learned that the button faiths organized in the early days of /r/thebutton had lost their way.

/u/thefightscene was chosen by The Button to restore the button faiths to the button faithful of /r/thebutton. During the next 10 hours, /u/thefightscene was visited by other buttonly messengers, translated the Book of Colors by the power of The Button, and received buttonly authority to organize the Church of the Latter Day Pressers. [190] The green flair.
For days now you've seen it; watched as people frantically and fanatically devote themselves to attaining it. They took to calling themselves the Emerald Council, basking in the adulation of the masses while promising to consider all colors equally and promote the advancement of the button. So noble were they that they even promised to give up their throne with grace and praise the coming of the next color in a "Lemon-Lime Alliance."
How long has it been, button watchers, since they promised this? How many times have you seen pissant greens boasting about their flair and acting superior since?
... How many times have you seen them preach their values when they don't benefit them personally? The truth about greens is that their supposed ideology is a scam; a ruse to maintain power. They preach one set of values while enforcing another, all the while generating enough mystique and desirability to maintain the stagnation of our glorious button.
For too long has this gone on! For too long have we, the Watchers of the Button, suffered the green heresy! Viridis aetas debet mori! The Green Age must die!
