John	Smith	https://www.facebook.com/groups/138339719519039/	Prospect	Hey guys! I'm thinking of starting a website that chronicles all of the best hikes in California with crazy depth—through drone footage, 360° images and virtual reality content. What challenges do you have when looking for new hikes to go on? What are current sites/guides in this space falling at?	I'd have to say the most difficult aspects of trying to find good new hikes in the bay area is tracking down the ones that aren't too crowded with tourists, have enough parking and aren't a total miss on difficulty level expectations.

What challenges do you have when looking for new hikes to go on? What are current sites/guides in this space falling at?	Finding local hikes that have great photo spots and knowing which time of day is best to go.	Kept conversation going—expressed interest in getting updates on my upcoming project that'd offer up very specific photo locations on the best hikes in the bay area.	kate@gmail.com
