

Songs	Retail tracklist	Advance bootleg tracklist	The Source 4 1/2 mics rated tracklist	Reviewer version tracklist	Claaa7 2011 tracklist	Unknown bootleg tracklist	Craven tracklist	Personal tracklist	Notes
Intro	1								This is the intro from title track on the advance bootleg
Streets Raised Me (featuring Big Noyd and Chinky)	2					15
What's Ya Poison (featuring Cormega) = Deer Park = How Do You Want It	3	2	2	9	2	2		2	This went through a few song name changes
Spread Love	4						4	7	Added in after the leak
Let a Ho Be a Ho	5		15	14	15				The reviewer version has a cleaner intro that completely omits the bit from the female comedian sample
I'm Going Out (featuring Lil' Cease)	6								Added in after the leak
Allustrious	7	6	3	2	3	6
Adrenaline = also known as Guns, Money, Pussy	8		5	4	5	7	9	6
Where Ya from (featuring 8Ball)	9	7	10	16	10	8		12
Quiet Storm	10	8					9	1
Where Ya Heart At	11	9	9	8	9	10	11	10
Noyd Interlude	12								This is a bizarre inclusion since it's supposed to be the intro to 3 the Hard Way because Big Noyd's on that song, but we have a song with Raekwon that follows instead.
Can't Fuck Wit (featuring Raekwon)	13								Added in after the leak
Thug Muzik (featuring Infamous Mobb and Chinky)	14	11				12		14
Murda Muzik	15		11	10	11
The Realest (featuring Kool G Rap)	16	12	6	5	6	13		5
U.S.A. (Aaight Then)	17		16	15		14			The unknown bootleg (and mostly likely the advance bootleg as well) erroneously has this as "This One"
It's Mine (featuring Nas)	18								Added in after the leak
Quiet Storm (Remix) (featuring Lil' Kim)	19								Added in after the leak
Feel My Gat Blow		3	8	7	8	3	6	3	Might have been removed from the retail version because it was used for the Slam soundtrack
Perfect Plot (featuring Big Noyd) = also called Mobb Coming Thru or We Got The Drop		15	4	3	4		5	4	Appears on the advance promo
3 The Hard Way (featuring Big Noyd) = also called You Fuckin' Wit or 3 From NYC		10				11		8	Noyd's Interlude appears in the beginning. The song was most likely removed because of the Al Green sample
Nobody Likes Me		18	14	13	14		3	9	Appears on the advance promo
Street Kingz (featuring Nas) = U.S.A. (Aaight Then)						16	10	11	Interestingly, this is added in Claaa7's reconstruction of the 4 1/2 mic version, but the articles from The Source doesn't mention anything about Nas on U.S.A. The quality isn't so good towards the end of the track, and it's clear that Nas' part from added in from a demo or mixtape.
Streets Raised Me (w/ children on chorus?)			12		12			13
White Lines (Quiet Storm (Prodigy demo) without Havoc on the hook)			1		1		1		Most likely sourced from a DJ Clue mixtape; it's slightly sped up due to the tape format
What's Ya Poison (featuring Cormega) w/ intro							2		The Craven version has an intro, but it's Cormega's freestyle from the end of the Murda Muzik OG
QB Meets Southside (featuring Sticky Fingaz and X-1)							7		Only found in Craven's bootleg
Pile Raps		16	13	12	13		8		Appears on the advance promo. Appears officially on the QB's Finest LP as Power Raps
Streets Raised Me (OG Mix) = That True Shit		14					12		May 2023: I'm confused on why I've added this. I can't recall a third version of Streets Raised Me
Murda Muzik (w/ intro and Cormega freestyle at the end)		1				1
Hoe Gonna Be a Hoe (with intro)		4				4
Thrill Me (featuring Big Noyd)		5				5
This One (featuring Big Noyd) = also known as Pyramid Points		13
Fuck That Bitch (featuring Big Noyd) = Shiesty (featuring Big Noyd)		17	7	6	7				Appears on the advance promo
White Lines (Quiet Storm without Havoc on the hook) (2 min preview)				1					Has the intro found in the retail version, but it ends after the Prodigy's first verse and it doesn't have Havoc on the hook, so it's a high quality version of the original song. Unfortunately, it also has the promo watermarks and only runs for 2 mins.
Streets Raised Me OG (2 min preview)				11					Same as the advance bootleg version - different singer
Thug Muzik (has a verse from Mike Delorean of Bars & Hooks instead of Prodigy)				17					Only found in the reviewer copy leak, it doesn't have Prodigy's verse at the end (see 3: 10 onwards) but Mike Delorean from Bars and Hooks. Unfortunately, the only version of this has the promo watermark over it at times.

Notes:
The version found on claaa7's blog is the closest to the 4 1/2 mics rated version.	http://claaa7.blogspot.com/2011/01/mobb-deep-muda-muzik-advance.html
The "unknown bootleg" refers to this copy I found years ago on what's probably a defunct website. The tracklist was similar to the advance bootleg, but it doesn't have the 4 promo tracks.
The advance bootleg was apparently a release that was leaked in order to raise hype for the actual album
The reviewer version has an audio watermark over all the tracks. The biggest notable difference is that Mike Delorean replaces Prodigy on the last verse for Thug Muzik. This is the version that got leaked and caused them to change it to what we have now in the retail version.	http://claaa7.blogspot.com/2012/05/revisited-mobb-deep-murda-muzik.html
The Craven version is a fanmade bootleg made recently	https://www.datpiff.com/Mobb-Deep--Murda-Muzik-craven-version-mixtape.862435.html
Sources:
Scans of the review and articles from The Source about Murda Muzik and its bootlegs:	https://imgur.com/a/njRe2
The thread on Wu-Tang Corp discussing the bootleg	https://www.wutang-corp.com/forum/showthread.php?60399-the-quot-Murda-Muzik-quot-bootleg
	https://www.thecoli.com/threads/does-anyone-have-the-bootleg-version-of-mobb-deep-murda-muzik.21344/